The Charleston News.

SATURDAY, JULY 27, 1872.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

-Miss Nilsson's trousseau will be one of the most elegant ever made in Paris. -H. G. stands for Honest Government, U. S. G. for Useless Stealing and Grabbing. .That sprightly burlesque actress, Mrs. James Oates, is sojourning at Saratoga.

-Hon. Charles Sumner has taken quarters at the White Sulphur Springs of Virginia. -The New York Seventh Regiment spent one hundred thousand dollars during its six days' encampment.

-Hezekiah Porter, of York, S. C., one of the victims of Grant's Ku-Klux policy, has died at the Albany penitentiary. -Thirteen hundred natives of Alsace and

Lorraine have recorded at the French consulate in New York their determination to re main Frenchmen. -Positive advices have at last been received that ex-Governor Curtin, of Pennsylvania, now minister to Russia, will resign and return to his own State, to take part in the Liberal campalgn. -The colored people of Kentucky are fast becoming real estate owners. One agent alone, residing at Lexington, has sold them the past year $100,000 worth of house lots for their own use, and the whole colored population of that town pay taxes on $400,000 worth of real estate. -The terms of the lease of the Missouri Pacific Railroad to the Atlantic and Pacific Ballroad, recently effected at St. Louis, are ten per cent. dividend on the present stock of $3,600,000 for three years, twelve per cent. for two years, and fourteen per cent. for nine hundred and ninety-nine years.

-The Lexington (Ky.) Press, of a day or two since, had the following: "It is understood that Mr. Adam Harper has brought suit in the Woodford Circuit Court against Mr. Wallace Harper for slander, growing out of the horrible tragic death of old Jacob Harper and his sister a short time ago. The damages are laid at $500,000. It is thought that the trial will bring out some interesting facts in relation to the great murder."

-The government stables of the White House are seventy by eighty feet, two stories in height, with a Mansard roof. Their interior and exterior appointments surpass even those of Bonner's famous establishment. We are told their cost was nearly fifty thousand dollars. No appropriation whatever for such an end was made. Every day of work upon them is in deliberate violation of the law which requires special grants of money for specific objects. Worse than this, the fifty thousand dollars is taken from the funds appropriated by Congress for the new State department.

-The recent purchase by the United States Government of four trunks full of Confederate archives from Colonel J. T. Pickett, who says he acted as agent for other parties who had kept them in Canada since the downfall of the Confederacy, has been the subject of much comment, it being charged, especially, that the sole object of the government was to extract from the documents purchased material for the political campaign. The document chiefly referred to among them all was the alleged report of Hon. Jacob Thompson, secret agent of the Confederate Government, "stationed in Canada for the purpose of organizing insurrection in the Northern States and burning their principal cities." This report now comes forth, as anticipated, in the shape of a regular campaign document, bublished by the Union Congressional committee."

_Madame Pauline Lucca the celebrated German prima donna, leads, so far as German court etiquette is concerned, a dual existence-By marriage, she is a member of the nobility, her husband being the Baron von Rhade. Whenever she is in Berlin, her presence is invariably commanded at court when a concert is given there. She attends the concert in her capacity of "Kaiserliche Kammersangerin," which means hoperlal chamber vocalist. There are other ladies, distinguished singers, whose presence is also commanded at the same time to add to the musical attractions. But these ladies, not being in the charmed circle of the nobility, retire from the palace when the concert is over. With M'me Lucca, however, the case is different. When at the stroke of midnight the Lord High Cuambariain announces that supper is ready, Lucca ceases to be a "Kaiserliche Kammersängerin," and becomes the Baronness von Rhade, and as such she takes her place legitimately at the supper table with the most nobly born German ladies. Lucce, it will be remembered, although a queen of song, is of very humble birth, she having commenced her career as a poor little street singer in Berlin.

-Vanderbilt's underground city railroad, the expected desideratum to supply the needed quick transit in New York, is on the eve of being commenced. Its completion is officially promised within two years. The necessary surveys have been made, and excavation will be begun next September. In prosecuting the work no tunnels will be bored, but excavations will be made and arched over. Work will go on simultaneously upon each half-mile section between the City Hall and Forty-second street, and while the excavations are proceeding in the streets, traffic will be accommodated by temporary bridges. Much attention has been paid in the plans of the road to the necessity of avoiding confusion, and of securing dispatch in entering and leaving the cars. Thus, persons going down town can only reach the d wn track. and those going up town the upper track-a plan which will save a vast deal of time and useless questioning of the employees of the the road. The cars are to be so constructed that passengers will get out at the sides directly from their seats. With Vanderbilt's money, energy and experience assisting, there is every reason to believe that this underground railroad will be so planned and managed as to meet the needs and expectations of whose mutual passion had disturbed the current of his own affections. He loved a young lady, but she loved a young tailor better. Orlando owed him money for clothes, and sent his laboratory. They accepted the invitation, and were politely received and slily led in conversation to the subject of electricity, about which he had much to say. Both listened with astonishment, and where quite delighted when the professor proposed that they should allow themselves to be electrified. He bade them give him their hands, put the one pole of a Rumkof apparatus between the girl's fingers and the other into the tailor's hand, and then joined the currents. A terrible cry broke from the pair of lovers; they fell to the ground in convulsive fits, then got up again, in the greatest torment, but Farnerini only laughed. The two wretched beings drew the apparatus after them, tumbled over the furniture, and almost broke their limbs in their frantic efforts to rid themselves of the mighty current, but in five minutes they had become two distorted corpses. Then, and only then, Farperini stopped the electric finld, and went to report the matter to the police, which he did with the greatest "sangfroid" possible.

-A truly scientific revenge was recently

A Desperate Game,

If anything more were needed to show the immense importance attached by the Grant it is worse in Ireland. A statement made in managers to the pending canvass in North the British House of Commons about the Carolina and the extent of their fears of a distribution of voting power in Ireland is to defeat in that State, it would be furnished the effect that the franchise is enjoyed by by the accumulating evidence of the bold schemes of fraud and violence which they have deliberately resolved upon as furnishing their only hope of success. Their purposes, in this respect, are no longer concealed. Their party organs are insisting that "there ought to be no modesty on the "part of the Administration." Secretary Boutwell has declared that "every weapon "and appliance known to political warfare is "to be employed by the Administration;" and Congressman Pool has openly written a letter making preliminary arrangements to forward a large sum of money to purchase voters. A corruption fund of $200,000, obviously intended for election purposes, has een sent from Washington, on the warrant of United States Marshal Carrow, an army of deputy marshals have been appointed at five dollars per day, whole regiments of United States soldiers have been sent to the State, and herds of colored voters are being 'colonized" from Virginia, Tennessee and South Carolina. The logical conclusions from this condition of facts are by no means discouraging. The desperate means adopted prove that the situation is a desperate one. Even should the Grant party be successful, there will still be time between July and November for their corrupt schemes to react with crushing effect upon their shameless authors, and a costly victory may be but the harbinger of decisive defeat. The lawless devices relied upon in bayonet-ridden North Carolina can never be practiced in the free States of the North, and can only arouse a storm of indignation in those States, which will assume the proportions of an overwhelming avalanche in November. Nor is it probable that such expedients will be successful even in their immediate object of carrying the State. The news from the campaign continues most encouraging. The "weapons and ap-"pliances" of the Administration are opposed by the ringing eloquence of such speakers as Senators Tipton, Doolittle and Stockton, Governor Vance, Governor Walker, of Virginia, and others. On the stump, the Administration apologists are constantly placed on the defensive, and the labored statistical sophistries of Secretary Boutwell fall flat when uttered in the midst of practical evition, such as the Old North State affords. The work goes bravely on. The sun of Thursday next will set upon a Liberal victory in North Carolina, and then-a walkover for Greeley in the Presidential contest.

The Work Goes Bravely On!

There is to be a grand mass meeting of the Liberals at Charlotte, N. C., on Monday next. Among the distinguished speakers announced for the occasion are Senator Carl Schurz, the Hon. M. P. O'Connor, of South Carolina, Governor Walker, of Virginia, and Governor Graham, of North Carolina. A special train will run from Chester, in this State, to carry those who may wish to attend.

Junius Redivivus.

The letters of Junius are little read, nowa-days, yet in their terrible invective there is much that is applicable to the state of this country under the Grant administration. Corruption and weakness in any government produce the same inevitable results. The probe that pierces the festering wounds of the body politic is fashioned to cure the evil that is a constant and unchangeable attendant upon bribe taking, incompetency, and neglect of the public interests. In his letter to the Public Advertiser on the state of the nation. Junius sums up his indictment against the ministry. This was in 1769. We slightly alter a sentence, and have exactly the description of the United States in 1872: "In one view behold a nation over-"whelmed with debt; her revenue wasted; "her trade declining; the affections of" many of the States "alienated; the duty of "the magistrate transferred to the soldiery; "and in the last instance the administration "of justice become odious and suspected to "the whole body of the people."

The Watermelon Policy.

Some of our friends of the interior press seem to be enjoying themselves hugely over the big watermelons of their ambitious and public-spirited neighbors. They manage it in this way: A year's subscription is offered as a premium for the largest watermelon raised in the county. Every fortunate pos sessor of a watermelon patch hastens to send in his choicest specimen of the fruit to compete for the prize; and the wily editor, acting at once as judge, jury and remorseless executioner, revels in the roseate glories of victor and vanquished alike, as long as the season lasts. The experience of our contemporary of the Barnwell Sentinel seems to have been peculiarly jolly. . In the case of that paper we are told that-

"The contestants were not a few. We have received melons from every quarter, varying in size from twenty-five to forty-two pounds. It affords us no little pleasure to publish a list of the names of those who raise the largest effected by a young chemist in Venice named melons in Barnwell County. We congratulate

Orlando Farnerini upon a pair of lovers our friends on their success, and hope they may be as fortunate in everything else they undertake. Barnwell is a great county and we challenge the State to beat her. We omit the names of those who handed in the twenty word that he would pay him and make his be- and twenty-five-pounders, as they are so far trothed a present if they would both come to below these figures: H. H. Easterling, one weighing 30 pounds; H. C. Chitty, one weighing 32 pounds; Dr. S. H. Tindall, one weighing 36 pounds; John A. Lancaster, one weighing 39 pounds; John J. Green, one weighing 402 pounds; L. F. Hair, one weighing 42 pounds. The meion sent us by Mr. Chitty was of the 'Lawson' variety and decidedly the finest flavored we ever ate; but it was for the largest we offered the Sentinel, and, therefore, we take pleasure in sending the paper to Mr. H. L. Hair, who has grown the largest melon sent

The Sentinel, doubtless inspired by the fine flavor of that "Lawson" melon, goes on to remark in a consolatory vein, that, "of "course, all could not be successful," but bids all, including the nameless growers of the twenty and twenty-five pounders, to be of good heart, as they are to have a chance to "try it again." Emulous Barnwell! Lucky Sentinel!

How Ireland is Mis-represented.

England certainly needs proportional repesentation to remedy the infamous "rotten "borough" system; but, as bad as it is there, 220,000 males, and 1,280,000 men are deprived of the rights of citizenship. Even admitting that every seventh man is perfectly capable of representing at the polls the views of another six who are disfranchised, it appears that the distribution of votes is still very unequal. There are thirtyone Irish members of the House of Commons who represent but 16,000 electors, and there are twenty-eight members who represent 120,000; eight constituencies with 2000 electors return the same number of members as four constituencies with 44,000, and so on-

Pardoning Felons, Again. The Darlington Southerner, referring to the recent pardon, by Governor Scott, of Kizzie Dampier, James Dampier and Adelia Norwood, denounces it as "an insult to this community and an outrage upon the rights "of the honest people throughout the State. "The pardoned parties have long been a pest "to this community; and when, at last, jus-"tice overtook them, the people felt that, for 'a time at least, they were safe from the "cunningly-devised schemes of these bad 'people.' But, within a month after their "conviction, they are proudly parading our "streets, labelled 'pardoned by the Gover-"'nor.'" The Ring can now probably rely upon three more staunch supporters in Darlington County.

An "Unquenchable" Patriot.

Among the features of a Grant and Wilson meeting in Richmond, Virginia, on Wednesday evening was the reading of a letter from Judge James L. Orr, urging the Old-Line Democrats of the Old Dominion to vote for Grant if they would repel the imputation of "an unquenchable hate of the government "he represents."

The Prison System.

The International Prison Congress, composed of delegates from all the leading nations of Europe and America, has just closed its labors in London, having been in session about two weeks. A number of questions in relation to prison discipline were discussed. and much statistical information of interest presented. A large majority of the delegates were deeply impressed with the importance of tempering justice with mercy, and the wisdom of teaching prisoners some useful trade, so that they can gain an honest livelihood after they are set at liberty. The Home Secretary of Great Britain, who was present, attributed the decrease of crime in his country to the in fluence of industrial schools and reformatories in cutting off the supply of criminals; to the philanthropic labors of discharged prisoners' aid societies, and to the general diffusion of knowledge. The question whether prison labor should be merely penal or industrial was under discussion during the session, and the general indement of the congress was against he treadmill, and in favor of industrial labor for priconers.

Boutwell's Welcome to the South.

In his recent journey to North Carolina, Mr. Boutwell, secretary of the treasury of the United States, passed by Clover, in Hallfax County, Virginia. A Greeley and Brown pole of considerable height had just been raised. From the top of it was flying a streamer with an inscription upon it. The train stopping awhile. Mr. Boutwell got out and gazed at the streamer very earnestly to read the words upon it. He finally succeeded and dodged back into the car, resuming his seat with almost painful solemnity. What was the inscription upon the streamer? "Go Back, Thienes m

CORDIAL, FOR INFANTS TEETHING.

This is the best Medicine for Infants and young children ever offered to the public. It is carefully prepared from the best Drugs, according to a prescription farnished by a distinguished German Physician of large and successful practice, and has been tried and approved by many of our best physicians. It is specially adapted to the diseases incident to childhood during the trying period of Teething, and recommends itself for the cure of Diarrhosa, Dysentery, Colic, Griping in the Bowels, Summer Complaint, &c. It contains no Anodyne or other injurious Drug, and should, therefore, be preferred to the soothing Syrups that now flood the market, which are known to contain Opium, and are therefore, more or less injurious. Thousands of children are murdered annually by soothing Syrups; in some cases, this fact has been published in the newspapers, where the physician in attendance so stated in his death certificate.
